

ENGR 102 Exam 2 Crossword

Across

- 2. The regions of a program where a variable is valid
- 5. A triple quote string used for documentation
- 6. A module used for creating simple drawings
- 8. A command used to add a string to a file
- 9. A package for performing vector and matrix operations
- 10. A command used to break up strings into parts
- 11. A command to give access to code in a module or package
- 13. Data passed from a function
- 14. A structure for dealing with run-time errors
- 18. A design methodology that takes existing pieces of code and combines them to create more complex code
- 19. The process of finding and fixing errors

Down

- 1. A collection of python code that someone else wrote
- 3. Data passed in to a function
- 4. A variable that is defined throughout the program
- 7. A container data type that uses keys and values
- 12. A section of code that is defined separately from the rest of the code
- 13. A command used to convert all lines of a file into a list of strings
- 15. An immutable container data type
- 16. Dictionaries use these pairs
- 17. A data type that can change values